Mine Companies*

Once again, Encanto Potash has ranked very highly in the MacCormick Socially Responsible Junior Mine Index. We are very proud to have scored number 8 of the top 100 Venture Exchange companies by market cap and ranked particularly well in the Community Investment criteria.

Reason for Selection

One of the companies that scored highly in this category was Encanto Potash. Through a joint venture partnership with First Nations in Saskatchewan, Encanto helps to empower the local community in its own economic development. This JV promises royalties to the First Nations from future mining operations as well as creating opportunities for employment, training and education.

“Encanto acts as an economic facilitator with both the First Nations and Canada to ensure that First Nations opportunities for business development and human resources are maximized through resource development.”
